Saturday Dance Welcomes Freshmen

Father Zeits Chosen Loyola High Rector

The Rev. Anthony J. Zeits, S.J., former Treasurer and Father Minister of Loyola College, took up his duties as the new Rector of Loyola High School, Blakefield, on Monday, September 27.

He replaces the Rev. J. Joseph Bluet, S.J., who will go to Philadelphia to work in the Labor Relations School there.

Entered Jesuits In 1938

Father Zeits entered the Jesuit Novitiate at Wernersville, Pennsylvania, on September 8, 1938, after attending St. Joseph's College and Villanova University. He spent two years there as a Novice and one year studying languages. From there he went to take his Philosophy at Woodstock College, Woodstock, Maryland.

From 1944 to 1946 Father Zeits was a teacher and the Athletic Director at Loyola High School. He taught Latin, history, English and Religion. The next four years were spent back at Woodstock College where he was ordained in June, 1949, by Archbishop Francis P. Keough. He then spent his one-year Tertianship at St. Robert's Hall in Pomfret, Connecticut.

Formerly At Georgetown

Before being assigned to Loyola College in 1953, Father Zeits had been Assistant Province Treasurer at Georgetown University for one year and then, just before he came to Loyola, he was assistant Pastor and Treasurer at St. Ignatius Church here in Baltimore.

Rev. Anthony J. Zeits, S.J.

Since Father Zeits has been at Loyola College, he has instituted the Student Loan Service and a program of un-endowed scholarships. As Father Minister, he has cared for the needs of the Jesuit community here with excellent results.

Regrets Leaving Loyola

Father Zeits expressed a sincere regret at having to leave Loyola College "at the dawn of a new era". He said that he has enjoyed working with the Jesuits, the lay people, and, even though his job did not allow him much contact with the student body, what contacts he did have were most pleasant. Any of the students who have had occasion to work with him can attest to the fact that his leaving will be a definite loss to Loyola College.

Marian Celebration Planned; Theme Set

"Marian Year", two words which have become familiar to many of us in recent months, will become even more familiar to Loyola College students in coming weeks. Marian celebrations have been held the world over. On November 7 Loyola College's alumni, students and friends will pay their tribute to Mary by holding a Marian Night.

Mary in Legend and Song

The program will start at 8:00 P.M. The main theme of the evening will be "Mary in Legend and Song". Mr. Felice S. Iula will direct affairs for the evening. Mr. Iula will also direct the musical program. A 40 piece Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, an organist, The Loyola College Choir and the Men's Choir of the Immaculate Heart of Mary will participate. The literary program for the evening will be directed by Mr. Frank L. Christ, assisted by Dr. P. Edward Kulienbach.

A number of exhibits have been planned for the Marian Celebration. The exhibits will begin sometime in October and will run up to, and including, the night of November 7. Mr. John C. Kirby, assistant director of the Walters Art Gallery, has an exhibit on Art and Catholic Heritage. Mr. Francis X. Gallagher has been gathering material on Perennial Literature published in both the United States and Europe specifically dealing with the Blessed Virgin.

Contest Set

A poetry and short story contest open to Loyola College students only will also be conducted. Mr. Vincent J. Colmore is in charge of the contest. The deadline for the acceptance of entries is October 15. Entries must be submitted to either Mr. Colmore or Dan Mackey, editor of the Evergreen Quarterly. Some entries may be published in the Quarterly. The short stories and poems may be of any length. The subject matter must be some phase of the life or doctrinal truths pertaining to the Blessed Virgin. The winning entries will be chosen by three judges. The winners will be announced on Marian Night, November 7. Substantial cash prizes will be awarded.

The Marian Exhibits and Marian Night Celebration will be open to all. There will be no admission fee.

Father Ayd Marks Fiftieth Year Society of Jesus

By Larry Awah

Father Joseph J. Ayd, S.J., will mark his fiftieth year as a member of the Society of Jesus on October 3. Father Ayd, nationally known for his work in the social field, has been a member of the faculty of Loyola College off and on since 1918, and is presently Professor Emeritus of Social Studies.

Father attended St. James Grammar School and Loyola High School in Baltimore. Upon completing the third year at Loyola College and taking all the medals offered in junior year at that time, he entered St. Mary's Seminary. After receiving his M.A. in 1904, he entered the Society of Jesus and was ordained to the priesthood by the late Cardinal Gibbons on June 28, 1917.

Soon after his ordination, Father Ayd was given teaching duties at the College.

Founded Courses in Sociology

In his thirty-two years in the classroom, he has taught a varied array of subjects, and was at one time Dean of Studies here at the College.

He has long been an exponent of Sociology, striving to have this important subject receive the attention in the curriculum that is its due. Father Ayd founded courses in Sociology here and at Georgetown, where he taught in the College, Medical School, and Law School.

Simultaneously with the beginning of his duties at Loyola, Father Ayd initiated his activity at the Maryland State Penitentiary as assistant to the then chaplain, Father Alphonse Coppens, S.J. Father Ayd took over the chaplaincy in 1921. As chaplain, he has accompanied over seventy men to the gallows, most of them his own converts.

Was Busy Man

A few years ago, Father Ayd, beginning to falter under an immense work-load of teaching, lecturing, writing, acting as chaplain at the prison and the City Jail, and his "job" as psychologist at the Seton Institute, was presented by his doctors with the choice of

Orientation Closes At Dance Oct. 2

A much-bedecked Evergreen gymnasium will this year be the scene of the first social event of the season, the Freshmen Welcoming Dance, to be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, from 7 until 11.

This affair will be in sharp contrast to the Rugby Game of the day before, which is strictly anti-social, says Joe Emerson, Sophomore class president and chairman of the dance committee.

Dress, according to an old and economical Loyola custom, will be informal or casual; the dance, cabaret style. Table reservations may be made with Soph Tom Cantow.

Show Numbers For Sore Sophs

Brayden Ridenour, a popular local band, will be on hand with a variety of music, including some extremely slow numbers for those sophomores and freshmen who may be feeling their Rugby. Tickets are now available at the Campus Shop, or from any Sophomore class officer for $2.40.

As usual, Moss will be celebrated in Evergreen Chapel immediately after the dance.

The Frosh Dance is the last of the Orientation events planned last summer by a special Student Council committee. The elaborately arranged program began this year with a session in Cohn Auditorium on Oct. 9, at which the Rev. Robert L. Hoggson, S.J., Dean of Studies, officially welcomed the newcomers.

Hear School Officials

Later, the Rev. Robert P. Arthur, S.J., Dean of Men; the Rev. Francis X. Knott, S.J., Student Counselor; Emil (Lefty) Reitz, Athletic Director; and Lt. Col. Whodrow W. Jordan, acting commander of the Loyola ROTC detachment, gave brief talks explaining the school's disciplinary, religious, athletic and military facilities.

On the following day, Oct. 10, the Class of '54 were guests of the Very Rev. Thomas J. Murray, S.J., President of the College, at the annual President's Tea, an occasion especially designed to allow the new class to meet, in advance, their Jesuit and lay teachers in a relaxed atmosphere.

The 213 new arrivals were then given an individualistic look by the addition of more caps plus grey and green pup caps, which must be worn until Friday's Rugby Game. If the Freshmen win the game, they may renounce the caps, according to tradition; if not, the Sophomore class can require the Frosh to remain capped all year.

Become Real Loyolans

In an obvious effort to integrate the new class into Loyola life, the Alma Mater was taught them by the Glee Club. Every member of the class was then interviewed by a member of the Student Council, who advised joining the clubs and activities most beneficial and rewarding to the individual student.

Already the program seems to be paying off, for this year there is an unusually high Freshmen registration in extra-curricular activities, according to Hal Sanks, vice-president of the Student Council.

This coming Friday will mark the already-mentioned Rugby Game, a contest with no umpires, rules or timekeepers, at which the Sophs are traditionally mauled.

Place Fur Revenge

The first year class always uses this high-scoring affair to publicly reward their oppressors for all the hazing with a generous amount of lacerations and bruises. This year's game should prove no different.

With that event and with the dance, the whole process of orienting the Freshmen comes to an end—at least until the next devil-dam-looking class is filtered through the same process one year later in an effort to make a new group welcome at Loyola.

This year's program was arranged by the Freshmen Orientation Committee of the Student Council under its Chairman, Joe Emerson. Moe Bozel, Tom Burch, Jim Long and Dick Hunt were committee members. Council officers Hal Sanks and Jim O'Hara also aided in the planning. Dr. Harry W. Kirwin was Moderator of Orientation. Dr. Kirwin also presided at the Orientation Sessions in Cohn Auditorium.

Editors Lay Plans For '55 Evergreen Annual

At a time when most Greyhounds were making plans for Ocean City, Jim Duckan, yearbook editor, was making plans for the 1955 Evergreen Annual. Already, his early start is paying off. With a lot of good plans and a fine organization to put them into practice, Jim looks forward to a "big ribbon" yearbook. Speechmaking this organization was Dick Hunt, as Business Manager, and Lee Russo, Gliby Russell, Fred Munnich, Jim Long and Bob Lanthorn, as section editors.

Letter-Press This Year

According to the editor, "modern styling" is the order for the year. The book will be done along lines commonly accepted by reliable authorities as "up to date". Abandoning the photo-offset process, the staff has decided to use the older style letter-press, which, though more expensive, gets better results, particularly with pictures. The book is being produced by Garamond Press, a local firm which has done yearbooks for such colleges as Cornell, Columbia, Georgetown, and Notre Dame of Maryland. Jim Campa, a former Loyola student, is the company representative.

In answer to the oft-heard charge that the yearbook is just a racket for the Senior Class, Jim Duckan has appointed quite a few underclassmen to responsible positions on the staff, notably Jim Cole and Jim O'Hara, working on sports and activities respectively, and Mike Molitor, who is a member of the business staff. Jim also makes it clear that any other interested underclassmen are welcome.

Goal Set At 150

The goal for subscriptions has been set at 150. Moreover, an intensive drive will be made to secure a greater number of sponsors and patrons than in former years. In view of its lofty aims, the staff is counting on everyone's help.

To facilitate the promotion campaign, representatives are being appointed in each section of every year. Students are requested to see these men for information, and hints, etc. Their names will be posted shortly.

The whole Evergreen staff is

hoping that no one will miss this chance to preserve in pictures and print, the life and times of the 1954-1955 Loyola family.

Saccherians Plan Lectures

Having gained city-wide recognition, thanks largely to the efforts of last year's officers, Dick Hunt, Ken Gue, and Bill Keenan, the Saccheri Mathematics Academy is prepared to inaugurate another season.

New president Jim Long will formally begin activities with the presentation of a mathematical research paper—"A Treatise on Descriptive Equations"—to be delivered at the first meeting on October 17.

Secretary Bill Wiegman reports that, as a result of last year's expansion program, which included inviting outstanding high school math students and their teachers to attend meetings, a large number of freshmen have shown interest.

Meetings To Be Seminars
Rev. C. Frederick Kuebler, S. J., the moderator, points out that the meetings, approximately five in number, will be conducted in the form of seminars, and will be held on Sunday evenings in the students' lounge.

Vice-President Ken Gue announces that lectures on topology and mathematics in civil service, and a trip to the Pentagon are also on schedule for the Math men.

"The purpose of the club", to quote Mr. Long, "is to spread interest in higher mathematics."

Red China Concerns Debaters

The activities of the Baltimore Debating Society were initiated at an organizational meeting held on Wednesday, September 15. At this meeting new members were accepted and plans for the year's activity were discussed.

The national debating topic for this year is Resolved: That the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist Government of China. Because it involves many aspects of the grave Red China problem, this topic should be the source of interesting and strongly argued debates throughout the year.

Events Planned

The Debating Society plans an extensive program of intercollegiate debates. A number of these will take place on the Loyola campus. One important goal for this year's debaters is to capture first place in the Cardinal Gibbons Debate League. The league is made up of the Catholic colleges in the Baltimore-Washington-Emmitsburg area. Last year Loyola placed fourth.

Loyola will attend as many national debate tournaments as possible. These tournaments, which usually last for several days, will enable Loyola College to meet some of the best debaters in the country.

Coaching Planned

All those interested in taking part in the activities of the Debating Society are urged to do so. No previous speaking experience is required. An extensive program for the coaching of new members has been planned.

Mr. Francis O. Voel is the moderator of the Debating Society. The Society's officers are John Turney, president; Hal Sanks, vice-president; Jim O'Hara, Secretary; and Sam Aley, Treasurer.

Awolt to Lecture Biology Gathering

On Tuesday of the first school week, Mendel Club elections were held with the following results: Earl Hill, president; Edward Hurdle, vice-president; Theodore Weiss, secretary; and Walter Lesky, treasurer.

A list of the talks scheduled for the coming year was also released. The first speaker will be Larry Awolt, whose lecture, scheduled for Oct. 14, is entitled The Functioning Brain.

In all, the 1954-55 series will consist of ten lectures. Father Joseph Didusch, S.J., moderator, and the officers extend a cordial welcome to anyone who feels he would like to attend.

Loyola ROTC Unit Awaits Commander

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) will begin its third year at Loyola College with 26 Seniors, 30 Juniors, 135 Sophomores, and 120 Freshmen participating.

Lt. Col. Charles Minot, who is replacing Lt. Col. Ralph E. Vandervort, Jr., as Professor of Military Science and Tactics, is expected to arrive by October 13.

Lt. Colonel Jordan Hack

Officers returning from last year are Lt. Col. Woodrow W. Jordan who is teaching the Juniors "Leadership and Instruction Technique", and Captain Loren S. Patterson who is instructing the Seniors in "Operations". A fourth officer, unknown as yet, is expected to be assigned to the College by Christmas.

Master Sergeants Albert Geckle and Edwin Fucnee, veterans of two years on the campus, are instructing the Sophomores and Freshmen, respectively.

Recently assigned here as Assistant Instructor is Master Sergeant Henry McCauley, a veteran of Korea and a member of the 82nd Airborne. Sergeant McCauley was formerly assigned to an anti-aircraft defense base in Pittsburgh.

New Cadet Officers Named

Among the Cadet Officers, Ed Gunnig is Battalion Commander, Bill Schmidt, Adjutant and George Lewis, Battalion Executive Officer. Chuck Baeremans commands Able Company; Andy Nicotru, Baker Company; Jack Burke, Charlie Company; Ken Gue, Dog Company; and Joe Tutchan, Easy Company.

Previously the ROTC here had been organized as a regiment composed of two battalions of two companies each. This year, however, it has been reorganized into one battalion consisting of five companies. Each company consists of two platoons, and each platoon consists of three squads.

Ten Weeks of Fall Drill Planned

Wednesday afternoons, the entire Corps will drill on the athletic field. During the fall there will be ten consecutive Wednesdays of drill, exclusive of October 20 which is a Retreat Day. No drill will be held during the winter months. In the spring, drill will be resumed for another ten weeks.

In addition to the regular ROTC program, the Military Science Department sponsors the Rifle and Pistol Club; the Scabbard and Blade, an honorary military fraternity; and the Pershing Rifles.

Pershing Rifles Again Active

The Pershing Rifles, captained by Bill Tymms, is essentially a drill team. The group won first place in the Trick Drill division of the Fifth Regiment Drill Meet held last May at the University of Pennsylvania. This was Loyola's first appearance at the annual meet.

The activities of this company, however, are not confined to drilling alone. Plans for the coming year include a smoker and a record dance plus participation in various parades and civic activities. It will also sponsor the Annual Military Ball, which is fast becoming one of the biggest dances of the year, according to Hal Sanks, chairman of the Social Activities Committee.

All those interested in joining the Pershing Rifles should contact Bill Tymms as soon as possible so that practice can be arranged without inconvenience to anyone.

Six Weeks Summer Camp

Students electing the advanced courses in ROTC will spend six weeks between their junior and senior years at camp. During the past summer, 26 cadets, accompanied by Captain Patterson and Sergeants Geckle and Fucnee, went to Fort Bragg, North Carolina, where they literally put theory into practice. Training included compass reading, platoon and squad problems, tactical exercises, and hygiene for a week.

Frosh Enrollment Highest in 4 Years

For the past two weeks, a sea of green and gray hennies have been seen snorting, swaggering or tip-toeing around the Loyola campus. This new wave of beaming humanity is composed of various and sundry sizes, shapes and ages—all belonging to the Class of 1958.

Of the 213 freshmen, only twenty-seven are twenty years old or over, thirty-six are just "draft age" (nineteen), 121 are eighteen, and twenty-eight entered at the tender age of seventeen. The age range is from sixteen to thirty-five.

Only Three Married

This year among the frosh, there are three family men. The other 210 are still being hunted. There are twenty veterans.

Home is said to be a man's castle and the freshmen have their castles hunted from Towson to Niagara. Sixteen high schools in the Baltimore vicinity are represented and sixteen frosh are from out-of-state high schools. Loyola High School has the largest representation with eighty-seven.

QUARTERLY DEADLINE

The Evergreen Quarterly has announced that its deadline for the first issue will be October 15. All students are invited to contribute essays, poems, short stories or almost any other form of literary endeavor.

Entries should be left at the Quarterly office in the Dell Building or given to Dan Mackey, the Editor.

Burch Named NSA Veep

In elections held last spring at Howard University, Tom Burch, Loyola's senior delegate to NSA, was voted executive vice-president of the organization's Mason-Dixon region which comprises member schools from the Baltimore-Washington-Friederick area.

NSA, the National Student Association, is devoted entirely to students, their problems, and their welfare, from almost any angle—from the 18 year vote to the position of fraternities on campuses.

Discount Cards

One of the most popular features is the promotion of student discount cards. For a small fee, a student may obtain a card entitling him to a discount on items purchased from merchants who belong to the program. Quite a few local firms are members. Details on this and the cards themselves will be available shortly. Students should watch bulletin boards for notification.

At present, Tom Burch is looking for new men to help him in his NSA work. He guarantees them a good bit of worthwhile experience as well as some very enjoyable times. Those interested should see either him, or Jerry Kauper, Loyola's junior NSA delegate

Dramatists Plan Full Schedule

The Musk and Rapier Society is off to a running start this year with Mr. Charles H. Staley as its new director.

With the season less than two weeks "new", Mr. Staley already has definite ideas as to what he would like to see the thespians do during the coming year. One of his chief endeavors will be to inaugurate a "Stanslavsky-type" workshop within the organization, whereby students will be in complete charge of a production. Under such an arrangement a member of the Society will have the opportunity not only to make use of his talents as an actor, but also to diversify his dramatic interests by assisting in every other phase of production.

Fr. Scalan Stays

Assisting Mr. Staley in his ambitious designs will be Fr. John J. Scalan, S.J. who did such an excellent job as moderator of the Society last year and who will continue in this capacity during the forth-coming season.

Also lending time and talent to the endeavor will be John Kuhn, the Society's new president. John needs no introduction to Evergreen playgoers, for he has been a familiar figure on the histrionic scene for the past three years.

Marian Year Celebration

First and foremost on the Musk and Rapier's agenda will be its participation in the school's Marian Year celebration, which will take place during the latter part of October. In addition to this program honoring Our Lady, the Society plans at least one "theatre-in-the-round" production this year. After the success of last year's "Hasty Heart", the Society feels that it would be foolish to abandon completely the use of center staging.

One-Act Plays

Also on the actors' agenda will be a one-act play contest, which, it is hoped, will be directed by students with the aid of Mr. Staley. The winning play of this contest will be entered in the annual Jesuit inter-collegiate one-act play contest later in the year. Still in the formative stage is a group of lectures which the Society hopes to have presented to its members by local authorities on the art of drama.

The Musk and Rapier Society looks toward a successful year and urges anyone who is interested in helping to make it so to contact the organization as soon as possible.

Chemists Plan Year's Activity

The Chemistry Club, this year headed by Senior Joe Tyson, has announced its program for the coming year. In addition to several field trips to industrial laboratories in the area, the group will sponsor lectures on various aspects of the science by qualified lecturers in both the industrial and educational fields.

Loyola Attends ASN Convention

Delegates from twenty colleges, representing all sections of the country, assembled at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin two weeks ago, at the 13th National Convention of Alpha Sigma Nu, the Jesuit National Honor Fraternity. Representing Loyola College of the East were Dick Hunt and Ray Gaeng, who were initiated into the revered Society last May. Meeting for the first time in three years, the delegates, under the leadership of their National Board Officers, delivered reports of their respective chapters' activities and then discussed plans for the coming years.

Reception Given

Upon their arrival in Milwaukee, the delegates were given a splendid reception and dinner by the Miller Brewing Company. After an evening of informal, convivial conversation, the delegates got down to serious business the next morning when they assembled in the lounge room of Marquette U's modern Union Building. The meeting was opened with a prayer, after which Fr. McCunley, the Dean of Men at Marquette, welcomed the delegates to the convention and expressed the ardent hope that Alpha Sigma Nu would help to foster spiritual as well as scholastic values.

National Registry Proposed

Immediately following Fr. McCunley's welcoming words, the delegates heard from the National Board Officers, all of whom stressed the purpose and importance of the meeting. Briefly stated, the National Officers voiced the hope that Alpha Sigma Nu would, in the very near future, be regarded as the Phi Beta Kappa of Jesuit institutions, with recognition extending both nationally and internationally. To assist in this endeavor the Board proposed a National Registry which would make available to member colleges the names of all active and alumni brothers since the day that Alpha Sigma Nu was founded in 1915.

After the opening speeches of the National Board Officers, each delegate reported on the activities of his chapter for the previous year. He also offered suggestions for both the internal improvement of the organization and enhancing the external prestige of the Society.

Committees Set Up

Following the reports of all the delegates, the assembly organized committees to consider the various proposals of the delegates. The delegates then adjourned for the day.

The next morning the committees worked independently on various suggestions that had been proposed by the delegates. Later in the afternoon these committees met in the assembly room of the Union Building and reported their decisions, the results of which were to be sent out to all ASN chapters.

New President Elected

The final business of the convention was the election of the National Officers who will guide the local chapters for the next four years. On the second ballot Bill Rogers, an alumnus of Loyola College of Baltimore was defeated and Paul Edward, alumnus of Loyola of Chicago was elected President.

If They Do Not Already Know . . .

. . . how welcome they are, The Greyhound officially welcomes the Class of 1958. We hope, and indeed believe, that they have been made to feel 'at home' by the upperclassmen since September 3. It has been the primary object of the Orientation Program this year to make the Freshman Class an integral part of Loyola as soon as possible. The Frosh have certainly cooperated thus far. Almost all of them have expressed an interest in one or more extra-curricular activity and have shown an amazing willingness to do what is expected of them. The Greyhound has initiated a policy of putting them to work immediately, thus making them feel that they are both wanted and needed. The results have been gratifying, to say the least! In fact there are more freshmen working on the next issue of the paper than upperclassmen. We are indeed happy to have such a class in our midst.

The editor feels that this is due, in part at least, to the manner in which the Orientation Program was handled from the start, and the way in which it has been followed through. We must congratulate the Freshman Activities Committee and the entire Student Council! If the Class of '58 continues to show the enthusiasm and interest expressed until now, the entire college will benefit!

After The Recent Hearings . . .

. . . it is dismaying to find that such a large number of the men who entered Loyola College for the first time this year are still unaware of the real effects of the disease known as 'McCarthyism'. In a recent poll of the Freshman Class, only forty-eight showed any indication that they were not entirely in favor of the actions and method of the 'very' Junior Senator from Wisconsin. Ninety-three took their stand for him and the rest had no opinion. It would be foolish to try to seek the root of this indifference and/or ignorance. We are merely stating the discouraging fact that it exists. Now The Greyhound does not speak out on controversial issues merely for the sake of expressing an opinion, but rather with the desire to shed a little light on what it believes to be the true situation.

Much has already been said both for and against the Chairman of the Permanent State Investigating Subcommittee and the editor is quite willing to admit that when he began his Commies-hunt in Wheeling, West Virginia in 1950, he had only the highest motives and the purest of desires. His conduct since that time, however, leads one to conclude otherwise. A fundamental principle of American law is that a man is innocent until he is proven guilty. We have never approved of guilt by association, trial by newspaper, nor public condemnation without fair and just trial by one's peers. And yet, whether we realize it or not, that is exactly what has been happening in this country for the past few years under the unimpeachable cloak of 'ridiculing the country of Communists'. Senator McCarthy is not the only one guilty of this perversion of American ideals and principles, but he is the most prominent and the most vociferous among them.

For instance, if we should ask almost any one of you, whether or not Mr. Owen Lattimore is a Communist, how many would answer "Not yet"? We are not saying that Mr. Lattimore is or is not a Communist. We only wish to point out that, while he has not yet been convicted of the crime of which he is accused, he is nevertheless thought guilty by many. This is not the American system of justice. It is 'purge tactics'. It is the method used by those whose philosophy we so heartily condemn! It is not logical to think that we can defend this nation from the Communist ideology by making use of its tenets. We would surrender to it more completely that way, than on the battlefield.

On Behalf Of The Student Body . . .

. . . we wish to congratulate the Rev. Joseph J. Ayd, S.J., who will celebrate his golden jubilee as a Jesuit on Sunday, October 3. In his fifty years, he has a record for doing God's work that few others could equal. As a teacher, priest, social worker and active apostle he has directed all his efforts to the fulfillment of the Divine commands. His work as chaplain of the Maryland State Penitentiary has been an example to other prison chaplains throughout the country. His introduction to the Divine Office is used nationally and his work in sociology is well known. Most of his life has been spent in and around Baltimore and he has contributed significantly to the reputation of the Jesuits in this area.

Your Student Council

The Student Council, with a new moderator this year, has chosen its officers and advisor in two meetings held since the Spring elections.

In elections held on May 14, presided over by President Mae Bezel, the Council chose the following officers: Senior Hal Sanks, vice-president; Jim O'Hara, secretary; Junior Sam Ayd, treasurer; and Seniors Jim Long and Jim Durkin, Social Secretary and Parliamentarian, respectively.

At the first meeting of the semester, newly appointed moderator Rev. James L. Hurley, S.J., was present when the Council voted for Dr. Harry W. Kirwin as lay faculty advisor.

Social Calendar Published

In another action taken, two defunct organizations were removed from the rolls at the request of the President.

In a separate action taken by the Social Activities Committee, under Chairman Hal Sanks, the Social Calendar, a list of all events thus far scheduled, was posted last week. The Committee was also instrumental in setting up an auxiliary coffee shop in the Lounge for Juniors and Seniors on First Friday and whenever Mass is held for the Student body.

In addition, the Council provided transportation for members of the Jesuit faculty who were visiting prospective students in an effort to encourage high school students to pursue their education at Loyola.

Orientation Successful

The Freshman Orientation Committee reports a successful program this year and will now place its jurisdiction over the Class of '58 in the hands of the election committee, which will supervise the election of the Freshman Class officers.

The next business for the Council will be the school's Marine Year program and the discussion of several student problems. The meetings will be held regularly throughout the year.

Seniors Sweat Out 6 Weeks At Bragg

by C. A. Wunder

It was hot. Two shaving bombs had just exploded, filling the footlockers with (Unnaca's Brushless) lather. We sat on the edge of our beds, unconsciously scratching the heat rash as the talk skipped from home to girls. At the far end of the barracks, some men wrestled with letters for the folks at home.

The day had been par for the course. We had been hellowed out of bed at four, and after fifteen hours of doubletime and intensive training, we had reached the end of our energy. Tempers shrank in proportion to the heat, and it was hot. A group from Dickinson College came up with canned soft-drinks and magazines.

A Shower Quartet

In the lavatory, a shower-inspired quartet wheezed through the melancholy strains of Til We Meet Again as others struggled with a cold water shave. On the first floor a group had gravitated to Beetle Bailey to watch him strum his imaginary guitar as he wailed some mountain music.

By ten-thirty, the KP's had finished their eighteen hour day, and after a few grumbling complaints, poured themselves into bed, letting the dull-witted jokes about dishpan hands go unanswered.

Few had expected this brand of summer camp. Some had figured on a Boy Scout affair, only with pay. The laconic call of the bugle mirrored their disappointment.

Go Airborne!

For six weeks we lived the life of an airborne basic, complete with daily lectures on the merits of jumping from airplanes. This was the home of the Eighty-Second Airborne Division, and every class made that clearer.

We found that one never walks in airborne territory and even rides less. Locomotion is supplied by doubletime, nixed and abetted by a mile run every morning.

The training was intense, since every infantry weapon was to be either fired or observed. Artillery and armor units put on spectacular demonstrations of firepower and accuracy. (The largest demonstration utilized ammunition costing $500,000.) Tactical problems such as patrolling and defensive maneuvers sent the group on five mile forays in search of a non-existent enemy.

Bright Eyed and Bushy Tailed

There were many humorous episodes that occurred at Bragg, but like a classroom joke, they lose much in the retelling out of context. There was always someone missing a fatigue hat or a first aid patch. Unions were formed among the barracks scrubbers and mop-pers, with bitter arguments raging over the merits of each. The sight of fifty-cents worth of stamps stuck to one another as a result of the heat; a lost footlocker key; shoe stain spilled on the clean floor were almost SOP's.

Home Sweet Home

By late July, we were hardened to the Army's way of life and much of the strain had disappeared. Weekends found the Loyolans with the Dickinson boys in a smoky bar, singing new found college melodies as they probed beer-can architecture. Captain Kennedy, our Platoon Leader, would show us short-cuts through the webs of Army regulations.

By August first, we had undergone the most vivid experience of our collective lives. We have the residue of a few nostalgic reveries.

Group Finds Foggy Weather on Faeroes

June 30 found a team of four Loyola College scientists anxiously watching the weather over the Faeroe Islands. They were there to observe the solar eclipse as it swept over 5000 miles of the earth's surface.

Fog and wind greeted the observers from Loyola as they turned their delicate instruments on that quarter of the sky where the sun was located. The poor weather made it difficult for the instruments to record the varying intensity of light as the shadow of the moon swept past.

It is still not known whether or not the results recorded at the Faeroe Islands site will be truly valuable. Scientists are now at work at Georgetown University computing the results of the observations, a long, painstaking task. They have not yet announced their final conclusions.

Tent Blown Down
The Rev. Edward S. Hauber, S.J., and the Rev. Vincent P. Beatty, S.J., both of the Chemistry Department, led the expedition. Ben Frederick, '54 and John Torrey '54 went along to handle electronic aspects of the work.

Class Of '58 Picks Committee Of Seven

At an Orientation Session held in Cohn Hall on Monday, September 19, the new freshmen elected a temporary committee of seven to govern the class. The seven were Rudy DeSantis and Mitch Twardawicz from Loyola High; Jerry Freese and Bernie Ruehe from Calvert Hall; and Dan Helsey, Deemy McGuire and John Kirby from Mt. St. Joe.

The committee has met and chosen Rudy DeSantis as its chairman. DeSantis will represent the class on the Student Council until regular elections for the freshman class officers are held sometime in December.

The committee is supposed to organize and govern the freshman class. They will be responsible for the distribution of tickets to the Fresh-Soph Welcoming Dance. Emphasis is being placed on giving the class of '58 good self government as soon as possible.

Rabassa Heads

IBM Stalwarts

With a new moderator and officers, the Academy for the Advancement of Commerce and Accounting is ready to begin a new year. Moderator Mr. Frederick Guiche, a new faculty member, is working with prexy Al Rabassa and veep, Fred Buchness in making plans to carry out the Management Club's purpose of making contacts for opportunities in the business world. Bill Schmidt is the new secretary and Joe Mike is handling the financial matters.

Field Trips Planned

At the first meetings of Loyola's junior chapter of the National Society for the Advancement of Commerce and Accounting, men from various industries will speak on the opportunities in their respective fields. Also scheduled are field trips to several companies later in the year. Inaugurating a new policy, the club announces that membership, formerly available only to seniors and juniors, is now open to all. Fresh and Sophomores are heartily urged to investigate and join the Management Club.

The Loyola group left Baltimore on June 3. They flew to Ireland and sailed from there to the isolated Faeroes, spending close to four weeks there. Stormy weather plagued them a large part of the time. In fact, the team was obliged to spend part of their stay in an ancient, abandoned whaling station when their tent was blown to shreds in a violent gale.

The scientists left the Faeroes behind, not without some relief, on July 3, when they sailed for Copenhagen. From there they were flown with their ton of equipment to Frankfurt, Germany. The four then took a short, but well-deserved look at a few of the historic sights of Europe. On July 26, they landed back in the United States.

One Among Many
The Loyola expedition was one of fifteen such groups which made observations under Air Force contracts.

Evening School Sodality Forms

One of the most important religious events of the Marian Year was the formation of a new Sodality for the Evening College. Under the guidance of Rev. Herman I. Stork, S.J., the Sodality now has nearly fifty active members.

The following are the officers of the Evening School Sodality at the present time: Rhonda Donovan, Prefect, Cecilia Holtman and Jane Sterens, Assistants, and Joseph Kantorski, Secretary and Treasurer.

Membership in this Sodality is open to all students, alumni and alumnae, who find it possible to attend and who are genuinely willing to make a sacrifice for the Blessed Virgin.

The Sodality meets in the Chapel on the second Sunday of every month. It has sponsored several Days of Recollection and the Three Hours' Agony last Good Friday. Until this year, the group was unofficial; it is now affiliated with the Prima Primaria in Rome, under the name of Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mediatrix of All Graces, and under the patronage of Saint Ignatius Loyola.

discontinuing either his teaching or his social work. He chose to continue his work at the prison.

Today, the only prison chaplain in the country with a Ph. D. (received from Georgetown University in 1937), he holds the uncontestable rank of "Dean of American Prison Chaplains" and receives daily a large volume of mail from all parts of the country concerning his work.

Noted Author

Father Ayd has three books to his credit: a general work on Sociology, a Psychology manual treating of both normal and abnormal psychology under the same cover, and a A Brief Introduction to the Divine Office in use in almost every seminary in the United States and variously referred to as "Ayd's Aid" and "Divine Ayd".

Now in his early seventies, Father Joseph Ayd manifests more enthusiasm and ambition than many men a fraction of his age and maintains that the best way to go through life is to see the humorous side of everything.

Tom Bailey

Bailey Tops Pitch Squad

by Joe Manz

When you are walking on the campus here at Loyola, and you hear someone call "Beetle", you know without turning around that one of his many friends is calling Tom Bailey, the captain of this year's soccer team. The six foot three inch, 170 lb. senior is currently beginning his fourth campaign as a member of the Greyhound pitchers.

Cross-Country Prospect

Tom started out as a freshman cross-country prospect, but when he got the urge to get out and kick the ball around he switched his activities to the soccer team. He saw only limited service in his first year on the squad due to his lack of previous experience. During his high school days at Mount Saint Joe, Tom participated in cross-country and ice hockey, besides starring for the St. Joe baseball squad as a pitcher. Tom was also president of his senior class while at the Irvington school. In his sophomore year here at college, Tom saw much more service with the footers and by his stellar play from his center halfback post he earned a second team berth on the Mason-Dixon Conference all star squad.

Valuable Hurler

Last year Tom again teamed all over the backfield from his center halfback post, directing the offense and defense of the team. During the spring, Tom can be seen in action with the Loyola baseball nine. He was one of the mainstays of Coach Lefty Reitz's hurling staff until an arm injury impaired his effectiveness, limiting his service last spring. Although still leaning toward baseball as his favorite sport, Tom claims that his biggest thrill in soccer came when Loyola defeated Catholic U's unbeaten team last year. When asked what he thought of this year's squad, Tom said that he looks forward to a better season with a more determined and experienced group of players and that, with a few breaks, he expects the team to win its share of games.

Army Then Law

On the campus Tom can usually be seen traveling with the Dundalk crowd and also with his fellow hillbilly music enthusiasts. After graduation, Tom, a Political Science major, will receive his Army ROTC commission and expects to enter law school upon the completion of his military service.

GYM JOTTINGS

by Larry Hurt

Well here we are, once again back at school, and as usual, athletics here at Loyola are starting to get in full swing. After a lapse of two years, your writer is once again back reporting the latest happenings in and around the Gymnasium.

The summer months found many of us in various parts of the country and while we were gone, William Bean and Joe Serin decided to give the ground floor of the gym a "new look." Not only did they paint various parts of the building, but Joe Serin even went some, what to extremes. When I walked into the Athletic Office, I noticed that Joe even painted all the ash trays a bright silver color.

Soccer will soon be starting, and Loyola should show some promise in the Mason-Dixon Conference. It is expected that three South Americans will be playing for the Greyhounds this year, and since soccer is the national sport in many of the South American countries, this should add some strength to the Greyhounds. Speaking of soccer, Tommy Lund, who just returned from a summer of pro baseball, will take over the coaching helm. Knowing Tommy as I do, I am sure that he will do an excellent job with the Hoofers.

Basketball is only a few months away, and although Lefty hasn't gotten excited about it, undoubtedly he will be in for quite a year. Loyola will again play a tough schedule, meeting some of the nation's top teams. In addition to our traditional rivals, Loyola has added Fairleigh-Dickinson, a powerhouse in New Jersey; the University of Scranton, always good; Iowa, a hot little New York College; Wagner, tops in their league; and Canisius, a top Buffalo College.

While on the subject of basketball, the Athletic Department is now in the process of soliciting advertisements for the program. We need ads and only you, the Students of Loyola can get them. So get in the net and earn some extra spending money.

The new Intramural Director for this year is Ed Pick. Ed succeeds John Faw who has been ordered to report for Active Duty with the United States Army. Best of luck John, and cheer up; the Army isn't that bad.

Freshmen take note! Have you given much thought to participating in Intramural Athletics? Come on out; remember, anybody can play.

Sophomores take note! I haven't seen any boxing going on around the Campus this year. You could really do some good, if you would make the Freshmen learn the Adam Mater and a few of the college cheers.

Juniors and Seniors! Basketball season is only two months away. Start planning our pods to the various away games.

A boosters club is being organized again this year along the same line as those in the past. The value of an organization such as this cannot be overestimated in bringing about more school spirit so sadly lacking on the campus. It is especially valuable to the athletes, who could surely stand a little sideline encouragement for their games. All those interested should contact Charlie Wunder, of the senior class, or Larry Hurt, at once. Friday afternoon will find the Freshmen and Sophomores going out once again in the annual rugby clash. Again the experts rate the Freshmen slight favorites in this battle between the classes.

Football Contest

Intramurals Open; New Teams Wanted

by Ed Dentz

Attention, Freshmen! Have you heard about Loyola's extensive intramural sports program? Well if you haven't, you had better get busy and enter a team, because intramural opening day is just around the corner.

Ed Fick At Helm

This year the intramurals are under the capable guidance of sports-minded Ed Fick. Ed informs us that all his efforts will be spent in giving us better scheduling for games, and most important, better officiating. Too many times in the past, games became near riots because of the disinterest and ineptness of the referees. To cite an example, two years ago the Freshmen Streaks were playing the Senior Elbow Benders for the intramural football championship. The game was being refereed by two seniors, something that is forbidden by the rules. An official cannot referee a game in which his class is a participant. To make a long story short, the Streaks were winning by a touchdown with less than one minute to go. The Elbow Benders, through some trick of the

Frosh - Soph To Battle In Rugby

Friday afternoon, barring any change in the weather, the sophomore class will be put up for slaughter. To put it in more official terms, the annual Frosh-Soph Rugby Game will take place. It will be held on the athletic field after class.

Inevitable Victory

The freshmen, if they are victorious, which is inevitable, will no longer be compelled to wear their pup caps. With this incentive, the first year men probably will turn out en masse, while a great number of the one year veterans are reluctant to lay down their lives for the cause. Old records show that the sophomores have yet to win a rugby game.

Canvas Ball

Joe Emerson, chief promoter of this annual event, is attempting to procure the canvas ball with a diameter of six feet, which was used in last year's contest.

All participants are advised to wear their old clothes, since they will probably be reduced to rags, during the course of the game. The rules of this organized riot are very easy to understand—there are none. The referee and timekeeper, (Ed Fick and Larry Hart) are, according to custom, thrown into the swimming pool after the game.

clock, managed to score two touchdowns and win the championship. One minute was stretched into five through the dishonest effort of the officials.

Rules To Be Stressed

But this year, with Ed at the helm, this is impossible. With the cooperation of everyone concerned, intramurals will have a banner year. For further information regarding rules, regulations, and starting dates, a close surveillance of the bulletin boards should be kept. So get busy, pick a captain, and a fancy team name and win fame and medals at Loyola.

Phillips Heads Block "L" Club

The Block L club is looking forward to a very successful year under the capable leadership of senior president, Bill Phillips. To all those unacquainted with the Block L, the primary purpose of the club is to promote student participation in the school's athletic program. To become eligible for membership, all that a student has to do is earn a school letter, either freshman or varsity, or be a member of a championship intramural team.

Two Goals

This year the Block L has two main goals in view. First, it hopes to merge with the Boosters Club. With this type of organization, it figures to be able not only to promote student enthusiasm in participating in sports, but also to promote enthusiasm in that all important side-line team, whose never-say-die spirit helps gain so many victories for our side. Second, the club hopes, with the consent of the athletic director, Lefty Keitz, to contribute a scholarship to any boy financially unable to attend college. This goal, if attained, would certainly be a great accomplishment.

As a closing note, Bill asks us to remind all members that club meetings will be held on alternate Wednesdays throughout the year at 11 A.M. and that it is not too early to promote the Father and Son Banquet, which is staged during the basketball season, and the Block L dance coming up later in the year.

Pitchmen Face Strong Terps At Evergreen

by Dave Bryan

One of the definite threats to take the Mason-Dixon Soccer crown this year will be a young, strong Loyola squad. This year's edition of the Greyhound team will be bolstered by a host of returnees led by two M-D All Conference selections, Tom Bailey at center halfback and Jack Benzing at fullback.

Two Graduate

The main reason, however for a bright outlook on the '54 season is the fact that the entire '53 aggregation, with the exception of Neil Callahan and Harry Lentz, fullbacks, will again be doing the Green and Grey with the sole purpose of bringing home a Mason-Dixon championship. Tommy Lind, a stellar pitch performer in his college days and now head soccer coach, has good reason to feel confident with the return of such outstanding linemen as Ed Dentz at outside right, John Quinn at inside right, Skip Chard at center and Gerry McCaron at inside left. Quinn and Lentz were the leading scorers last year, in a campaign which saw the Greyhounds win two of an eight game schedule.

Flanking "Beetle" Bailey, at the halfback spots, will be Freddy Cox, German Gonzolo, Elmer Mealey, and Jack Dummer. John Mannion is expected to take Ned Callahan's place opposite Benzing on the defense. Last year's goalie, Gene Settler, will again be tending the nets for the Green and Grey along with Jim Allenhaugh. The front line will also be well manned again. Among the returnees are: Jim Donohue, Jim Kuch, Bill Thompson, Tony Serio, Al Rabassa and Dave Bryan.

With a tough ten game grind staring the Loyola pitchmen in the face this year, it seems only right that the team should have some measure of support from the student body. A team such as this, which is pitted against some of the toughest soccer aggregations in the East, Universities of Maryland, Baltimore and Hopkins included, depends a great deal on the amount of school spirit behind them. On the first day of practice only four freshmen presented themselves to Coach Lind.

With a little bigger turnout and regular support at each game, the Greyhounds should prove the team to beat during the '54 season. The complete schedule is as follows:

6 Western	.....home
8 Western Maryland	.....away
13 Washington College	.....away
16 Georgetown University	.....home
20 Mt. St. Mary's	.....home
22 Baltimore U.	.....home

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Jim Cole, Sports Editor

Running With The Hounds

Waiting for the Streaks to streak again in football, I note:

As most of you will remember, Loyola's intramural athletic program is definitely on the upswing. It has taken large strides in the past years under the capable leadership of such men as, Pete Ramberger, Bo Menton and now Ed Fick. New sports, better scheduling and better refereeing were and are in evidence. This, together with the intramural facilities already here at Loyola, combines to give us one of the best intramural setups in the East—in colleges of like size.

Wanted—Student Participation

To the students here at Loyola, this does not seem to mean a thing. These facilities and opportunities are ignored, especially in the team sports. The only thing needed in order to make the good football league here better, is more teams from each year participating. The same is true of the new track and field meet, which would be considered a success if only one team from each year entered. In order to enter a team in any of these sports, all one has to do is fill out a blank, and turn in, then start playing. Regulations, starting times, refereeing assignments etc. are all posted on the bulletin boards in the gymnasium.

To The Freshmen !!!

It is the freshmen especially to whom this is written. When the present junior Streaks, were freshmen, they narrowly missed both the football and basketball championships. You, being the largest class in the school, should be the best represented on the field to try to stop the junior's domination over the intramural program.

Old Soldiers Never Die

Along with the two hundred old freshmen who enrolled at Loyola, came a few others who had left for various reasons but who wished to finish at Evergreen. One of these is Charlie McCullough, 6'8" center on the 1951-1952 basketball team. Charlie should prove invaluable in that all important height department. His aggressiveness and sure hook shot should help to again give Loyola a fine basketball team. Tom Lind, 1951 graduate and great performer in both soccer and baseball has returned to his alma mater to coach at the former sport. During his absence, Tom made good use of his spare time by playing professional baseball. Last but not least is Larry Hart, Lefty's right hand man. Larry has returned from the army to take over his old post of publicity director. His knowledge of the job and connections with the newspapers, radio stations, etc. should really give the Greyhounds a boost, publicity-wise.

On the other hand, Loyola has lost Jack Faw. Jack succeeded Bo Menton as commissioner of Intramural Athletics and was to have run the program this year, but as always Uncle Sam comes first. Ed Fick has succeeded him.

The soccer season opens here at Loyola on October 6, with the Hounds facing a strong University of Maryland squad. The game will start at 3:15 P.M. With practically the whole team returning, this should be a good year for the Hound pitchmen. In the Mason-Dixon, the teams to beat, as usual, are Johns Hopkins, defending champs, and Baltimore University. These games will also be played at Evergreen. No admission is charged to these contests, so why not hang around on game afternoons and give the Greyhounds a little support.

Favorites Fall

The pre-season favorites have been beaten. At the start of the baseball season, the crystal gazers predicted another subway series between the Yanks and the Dodgers. It was, as you know, the Cleveland Indians leading in the American League all the way with the New York Giants topping the field in the National. Both teams had outstanding stars who are my predictions for the Most Valuable Player Award in their leagues. For the Indians', it was their sure fielding, clutch hitting center fielder Larry Doby. Larry had probably one of the greatest years of his career. His big bat, by taking off some of the slack left by the slumping Al Rosen, helped the Indians immeasurably. John Antonelli, who last year was the property of the Milwaukee Braves, was the man that gave to the Giants that extra push which won them the pennant. After a fair season with the Braves last year, he was traded to the Giants and is now one of the leading pitchers in baseball.
